Approved For Release 2004/06/14 : CIA-RDP81M00980R0004000f00f1-3	SECRET DOLLARS DOLLARS DE DOLLARS DE LA CONTRACTA DE LA CONTRA
Tuesday - 7 March 1978 1. LIAISON Met with Pat Norton, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, and informed him that the Agency had given the staff of the Subcommittee on Energy and the Environment, House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, access to documents relating to which had previously been provided to ICAE. Norton asked me to check on the story in the Washington Post on which said that former President Johnson had ordered former Director Richard Helms to not disseminate information on Norton said he had met with Agency representatives on this case and had asked that specific question, and was told there was no high level instruction regarding limiting dissemination. Norton asked me to clear this up for him. 2. LIAISON Met with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information	Approved For Release 2004/06/14 : CIA-RDP81M00980R000400010011-3/2 6532
Tuesday - 7 March 1978 1. LIAISON Met with Pat Norton, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, and informed him that the Agency had given the staff of the Subcommittee on Energy and the Environment, House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, access to documents relating to which had previously been provided to ICAE. Norton asked me to check on the story in the Washington Post on which said that former President Johnson had ordered former Director Richard Helms to not disseminate information on Norton said he had met with Agency representatives on this case and had asked that specific question, and was told there was no high level instruction regarding limiting dissemination. Norton asked me to clear this up for him. 2. LIAISON Met with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
LIAISON Met with Pat Norton, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, and informed him that the Agency had given the staff of the Subcommittee on Energy and the Environment, House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, access to documents relating to which had previously been provided to ICAE. Norton asked me to check on the story in the Washington Post on which said that former President Johnson had ordered former Director Richard Helms to not disseminate information on Norton said he had met with Agency representatives on this case and had asked that specific question, and was told there was no high level instruction regarding limiting dissemination. Norton asked me to clear this up for him. 2. LIAISON Met with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information	ADDENDUM TO JOURNAL
LIAISON Met with Pat Norton, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, and informed him that the Agency had given the staff of the Subcommittee on Energy and the Environment, House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, access to documents relating to which had previously been provided to JCAE. Norton asked me to check on the story in the Washington Post on which said that former President Johnson had ordered former Director Richard Helms to not disseminate information on Norton said he had met with Agency representatives on this case and had asked that specific question, and was told there was no high level instruction regarding limiting dissemination. Norton asked me to clear this up for him. 2. LIAISON Met with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information	OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL
Select Committee on Intelligence staff, and informed him that the Agency had given the staff of the Subcommittee on Energy and the Environment, House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, access to documents relating to which had previously been provided to JCAE. Norton asked me to check on the story in the Washington Post on which said that former President Johnson had ordered former Director Richard Helms to not disseminate information on Norton said he had met with Agency representatives on this case and had asked that specific question, and was told there was no high level instruction regarding limiting dissemination. Norton asked me to clear this up for him. 2. LIAISON Met with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information	Tuesday - 7 March 1978
Select Committee on Intelligence staff, and informed him that the Agency had given the staff of the Subcommittee on Energy and the Environment, House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, access to documents relating to which had previously been provided to JCAE. Norton asked me to check on the story in the Washington Post on which said that former President Johnson had ordered former Director Richard Helms to not disseminate information on Norton said he had met with Agency representatives on this case and had asked that specific question, and was told there was no high level instruction regarding limiting dissemination. Norton asked me to clear this up for him. 2. LIAISON Met with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
Select Committee on Intelligence staff, and informed him that the Agency had given the staff of the Subcommittee on Energy and the Environment, House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, access to documents relating to which had previously been provided to JCAE. Norton asked me to check on the story in the Washington Post on which said that former President Johnson had ordered former Director Richard Helms to not disseminate information on Norton said he had met with Agency representatives on this case and had asked that specific question, and was told there was no high level instruction regarding limiting dissemination. Norton asked me to clear this up for him. 2. LIAISON Met with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information	1. LIAISON Met with Pat Norton, Senate
Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, access to documents relating to which had previously been provided to JCAE. Norton asked me to check on the story in the Washington Post on which said that '25X1 former President Johnson had ordered former Director Richard Helms to not disseminate information on Norton said he had met with Agency representatives on this case and had asked that specific question, and was told there was no high level instruction regarding limiting dissemination. Norton asked me to clear this up for him. 2. LIAISON Met with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information	Select Committee on Intelligence staff, and informed him that the Agency had which had previously been provided to ICAE. Norton asked me to check on the story in the Washington Post on which said that former President Johnson had ordered former Director Richard Helms to not disseminate information on Norton said he had met with 25X1 Agency representatives on this case and had asked that specific question, and was told there was no high level instruction regarding limiting dissemination. Norton asked me to clear this up for him. 2. LIAISON Met with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information	given the staff of the Subcommittee on Energy and the Environment, House former President Johnson had ordered former Director Richard Helms to not disseminate information on Norton said he had met with 25X1 Agency representatives on this case and had asked that specific question, and was told there was no high level instruction regarding limiting dissemination. Norton asked me to clear this up for him. 2. LIAISON Met with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
Agency representatives on this case and had asked that specific question, and was told there was no high level instruction regarding limiting dissemination. Norton asked me to clear this up for him. 2. LIAISON Met with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information	to check on the story in the Washington Post on which said that 25X
Agency representatives on this case and had asked that specific question, and was told there was no high level instruction regarding limiting dissemination. Norton asked me to clear this up for him. 2. LIAISON Met with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information and was told there was no high level instruction regarding limiting dissemination. Norton asked me to clear this up for him. 2. LIAISON Met with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information LIAISON Met with Bill Miller, Staff Director, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
Senate Select Committee on Intelligence, and Earl Eisenhower, of the Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information	T TATOONT AS A SET DITT OF THE Committee staff, and showed them the New York Magazine article entitled the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information provided by a "Senate source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information unformation provided by a "Senate Source with access to intelligence oversight." Both Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
Miller and Eisenhower were quite concerned at this reference and agreed to look into the matter. 3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information	the "War of the Moles, Continued," and pointed out the reference to information
3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information
Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents returned to the Agency about the middle of February. Using the information	3. LIAISON Met with Susan Mahler, Senate
	Select Committee on Intelligence staff, in an attempt to locate documents one provided, I did succeed in locating the documents.
	provided, I did succeed in localing the documents.

Approved For Release 2004/06/14 : CIA-RDP81 00980R 000400070017-3

25X1

25X1

25X1

25X1

25X1

25X1